SUMMARY

"So many twists and turns many of them left me shocked. I loved each character in their own unique way." Discover Ànifa's thrilling tale in the first book of the Rebalancing the Cosmos series. Eklatros is a peaceful planet, untouched by war for thousands of years. Throughout the ages since the back-to-back conflicts known as the War for Equality and the Dark War, humans have become soft. Their history has become myth, and the magic that was once abundant is fading away. Now, Eklatros faces its gravest threat yet from an alien horde known as the Gnusar. Cities are being ravaged while the Gnusar's all-powerful leader slowly corrupts the animals and gods of Eklatros. The planet's only hope for survival rests in a mysterious elvish woman, simply known as Ànifa. Without any memory of who she is or where she comes from, Ànifa must journey across Eklatros to reclaim her memories while reviving and awakening the planet. Aided by her newfound friends and companions—an elderly sorcerer, a drunken knight, a mysterious man out of time, a foul-mouthed privateer, and others—can Ànifa's party come together in time to save Eklatros? "The last part of the book was such a thrill ride that I didn't want to put it down." "The intense series of events and battles and adventures throughout this novel is highly suspenseful, memorable, fun, and heartfelt."
